Last night at 10 o'clock Washingion was seen to climb up several steps and reach up his hand towards the electric light lamp. Some shouted a warning to him but it was too late. His hand touched the wire, and in an instant his frame stiffened, and he fell to the floor below dead. Not a muscle twitched, and his death must have been instantaneous. His right hand had touched the wire, and his left clinging to an iron rod had completed the circuit. There was not a mark on the man, except on the right hand, where a slight scar was found where he had grasped the wire.

STRACUSE, N. Y., Nov. 4 .- An accident, nost horrible in detail, occurred on the Delaware, Lackawana and Western railroad at Rock Cut, a station about three miles south of this city at about 5:45 o'cl'k yesterday afternoon. The New York and Philadelphia express train from New York city, which is due in Syracuse at 5:55 p. m., passes Rock Cut at 5:40 o'clock. It does not stop there, but passes the station at the usual rate of speed, which is about forty miles an hour. Before the express was due at Rock Cut, two coal trains from Syracuse had arrived at the station, and ad been run in on a switch on the north side of the main track, Clark, the operat or, was in his station, a few rods east of the switch. He was on the lookout for the express. The latter was on time, and as the headlight of its engine came in view, it flashed through Clark's mind that the switch was open, and that if it was not closed, the express would dash into the coal train. No sooner did the thought enter his brain than he rushed out of the loor, rushed to the swi ch and swung it over. Then he realized, but too late, his mistake. As the switch was turned, the express swung onto the sidetrack and the crash of the engines spoke the result. The noise of the collision was lost in the cries of the passengers within the coaches of the express train. The fireman and engineer of each engine were caught in the

Efforts to secure a reduction have proved fruitless, and as a last resort the business men of Atchison got together and organized a company to build a pontoon bridge. The company owning the present bridge, which is composed mostly of Cleveland parties, now announces a reduction of nearly 60 per cent in the tolls, or to the prices announced by the company which was to have built the pontoon bridge. As a reduction was all that was desired the pontoon bridge will
